Courtland to Be Asked to Set Another Day for the Session

Owing to continued rains and their knowledge that the road between here and Courtland would be well nigh impassable tonight, the promoters of the Courtland meeting of the Tennessee Valley Road Improvement Association, have called the meeting off, with the understanding that when Courtland people are ready for a similar meeting in the near future it will be held.

A number of Huntsville people were reported as here today ready to make the trip with local road enthusiasts to Courtland but they with the local people agreed that the only practical thing to do under the circumstances was to postpone the proposed gathering.

Until it was found that the railroad trains between here and Courtland were to run at such inconvenient hours, it had been planned all along, until late today for the crowd from here to go to and return from Courtland by rail.

Not since some days ago when the rains set in, was the thought of making the trip to Courtland the night of April 10 by automobile entertained by any of the local members of the association.

It is expected that the committee on constitution and bylaws for the association, which was to have made its report at Courtland tonight, will make recommendations as to a constitution and bylaws for the association at the next meeting of the association, the time and place for which gathering is to be named later.

MAN SOUGHT FOR MURDER OF GIRL

(Associated Press)
BONIFAY, Fla., April 10—Although the sheriff and his posse are still searching for John A. Sapp, wanted for the killing of Mrs. Eric Stevenson an 18 year old bride, last Sunday, nothing yet has been heard from him according to Deputy Sheriff Davis.

The killing took place just across the Florida state line, about three miles from Black, Ala., in a sparsely settled section, Deputy Davis said.

The land in the neighborhood is largely out over woods and Sapp's trail was lost after the posse had tracked him about half a mile, according to the deputy, who stated if the man were located he would be taken dead or alive.

ARTHUR CROWDER
ANSWERS 'GUILTY'

Man Once Held Here in Carolina Court for Hearing

TELLS STORY OF KILLING OF FORD

Testimony in Orr Case Is Reported by the Gastonia Gazette

Arthur Crowder, arrested here on a charge of forgery and after confessing to the killing of John Ford in Gastonia, N. C., returned to that city for trial has pleaded guilty to manslaughter, according to Rev. L. F. Goodwin, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, who returned home today from Gastonia, where he had been called as a witness.

Crowder was put on the stand by the state in the trial of Joe Orr, who had sought to implicate in his statement. Later, however, attorneys for Orr put a number of witnesses on the stand in an effort to prove an alibi for their client.

Crowder's story, as told the Gastonia court, is reported by The Gastonia Gazette as follows:

Crowder went on the stand at 10:45 and nearly an hour was consumed in his direct evidence. The substance of his testimony was that he, Joe Orr and an unnamed man, a friend of Orr's from Charlotte, followed Kilian Ford and the two girls, Grice and Beatty out the Bessemer City road, that encountering them on the by-road a quarrel ensued and shooting followed. He said that then, he, Joe Orr and the third party came back to Gastonia, that Joe Orr went to the city hall for a few minutes, and that they all three went to Greensboro. He said they purposely damaged the car so that they would have to be towed in. Arriving in Greensboro, he swore they went to the Guilford Hotel, that Joe Orr registered and that then they all came back to Gastonia on train No. 29, getting back here at 4:30.

He further testified that he and Joe Orr had talked over the matter several times since the event in question and that Chief Orr had also conferred with him.

He declared that Joe Orr had come to see him while (Crowder) was on the chain gang in Cabarrus county. He said, too, that he had talked to Kilian about the occurrence, visiting him in Lincolnton.

He said, too, that Joe Orr had come to his home in Belmont Junction last December and that as a result of his visit he left home fearing exposure from the girls, Grice and Beatty. He went to Huntsville, Ala., where he was arrested for forgery, lodged in jail and confessed to (Rev. Mr. Goodwin, a Presbyterian minister).

R. G. Cherry, attorney for Joe Orr, was in the midst of a rigid and grilling cross-examination when court stopped at 1 o'clock. He was attempting to show that Crowder had come back to Gaston to try to escape a heavy punishment in Alabama for forgery. He had also traced Crowder's past history for several years. He showed that he had been convicted of forgery, had been charged with fighting, drunkenness, etc. Crowder admitted all this.

Judge A. C. Jones for Kilian tried to show that Crowder went out on the party prepared to do damage. His cross-examination was also rigid and grueling. His attempt was to show that Crowder and his party started the whole trouble by following the other crowd intent on taking their girls away from them. Crowder swore, however, that Kilian fired the first shot and that then the shooting was general. Three pistols were in use, he said and Ford was killed by a shot from one of them. Ford and the Grice girls were in the direct line of fire, he said, between Kilian and the Orrs.

NEXT SESSION OF VALLEY BANKERS
TO BE HELD HERE

Twin Cities Chosen for 1925 Convention of Group One

BLOODWORTH IS NEW GROUP HEAD

Local Banker Selected as Chairman for Northern Area

The next meeting of Group No. 1 of the Alabama Banker's Association will be held in the Twin Cities early in next year, returning delegates to the recent Sheffield meeting of that group announced today.

F. A. Bloodworth, president of the Morgan County National bank, is the newly elected president of Group No. 1, which honor makes Mr. Bloodworth one of the vice president of the Alabama bankers association.

It was stated that early in May the state association will have its annual convention in Birmingham. Today in speaking of the convention, A. H. Hoff, who with S. M. Thompson attended all its sessions, declared that the keynote of all the principal speakers was "cooperation between the bankers and farmers."

Mr. Hoff stated that President Adolph Hoenburg of the state bankers' association whose home is in Wetumpka laid special stress on the necessity of farming being done in a business way, with the farmers seeking to raise all their supplies on their farms, as nearly as possible. President Edward A. O'Neal, of the Alabama Farm Bureau Association declared that this year 5,000 fewer farms would be tended than last year, and that serious consequences might be expected unless something was done to encourage the farmers.

J. L. Andrews delivered the address of welcome at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, followed by a response in behalf of the delegates by E. W. McLeod of Hutzville. At the Tennessee Valley Country Club Wednesday night Rev. H. L. Turner, formerly of the Twin Cities and now pastor of the Columbia Avenue Presbyterian church of Sheffield, gave the invocation, followed by the address of Mr. Hoenberg the one by Mr. O'Neal and other addresses by F. G. Crout, F. R. Jones and M. W. Bell.

All were taken in automobiles to Wilson Dam and those who desired to do so were allowed to walk over the structure accompanied by an engineer in charge. Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Hoff were greatly impressed with the magnitude of the dam, and with the announcement that by July 1, 1925, the power house would be completed and that by January 1, 1926, Wilson Dam would stand completed. Mr. Thompson said the dam appeared to him as a great monument to American enterprise, skill and industry. He said its completion and the water impounded by it, and the opening of the Tennessee river to full navigation could mean but one thing, namely a great industrial awakening, and one that was bound to have a great effect on the Twin Cities.

Simmors Presents the Tax Provisions the Democrats Seek

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 10—The new revenue bill was formally reported to the senate today and along with it a new democratic tax plan, carrying an income tax plan somewhat similar to the Longworth plan adopted by the house and turned down by a majority of the senate finance committee.

Democratic proposals, which the sponsors believe, will have the support of the insurgent republican group carries a maximum sur-tax rate of 40 per cent on incomes in excess of $500,000 as compared with a maximum of 25 per cent on incomes in excess of $100,000 in the finance committee bill.

Normal income tax rates proposed in the democratic plan are two per cent up to $4,000; four per cent on incomes between $4,000 and $8,000 and six per cent on incomes above $8,000.

All heads of families, irrespective of the amounts of their incomes, would be given the present exemption of $2,500. No other change in the exemptions are proposed.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, presented the democratic substitute, just after Chairman Smoot had brought in the report of the majority of the committee and announced he would probably call the bill up for consideration next Wednesday.

It would be useless to consider it before then, he said.

"HOME" SUBJECT OF SERMON AT REVIVAL

Tonight at the Central Methodist revival, the sermon of Dr. Hunter will be directed especially to business men, it was announced Wednesday evening at the opening of what proved an inspiring and at times a thrilling service.

The preacher spoke on the "Home" and made it the greatest, oldest and by far the most important of all God's institutions. Dr. Hunter said that the church must take second place to the home.

The singing of the revival, as led by Walter H. Makin, with the accompaniments as played by Mrs. H. O. Trout continues to be a chief feature. The usual number of old familiar gospel hymns were sung at the opening of the meeting and during the alter service.

"Home, Sweet Home" was one of the most moving of the hymns used. Mr. Makin sang with strong effect "Tell Mother, I'll be there."

The preacher took his text from the parable of the two householders where one built his house upon the sand and the other upon solid rock.

"We are more concerned about the location of a home than about its security," said the preacher early in his discourse.

Among some of the other epigrams sentences of Dr. Hunter were the following:

"God has given us every safeguard and if we let our children get on the roads there is something wrong in the home."

"Religion in the home must have some vocal expression."

"Anything that takes woman out of her proper sphere in the home imperils the home."

"If we've scrapped the old family altar, God save the mark!"

"The average home has turned the religious training of the children over to the Sunday school teacher and the home."

BURNS QUESTIONED

Chief of Secret Service Admits Using Men on Wheeler's Case

PHONE OFFICER IS ON THE STAND

Denies Daugherty Said He Wanted to Get Senator Wheeler

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 10—In an interim between testimony about the Miller brothers and fraud case in Oklahoma and the Old Hickory powder plant litigation in Tennessee, the Daugherty committee today dipped a finger into the controversy over the indictment of the committee prosecutor, Senator Wheeler, by a Montana grand jury.

The witnesses were questioned chiefly about the charges against Senator Wheeler and various circumstances that attended or followed his indictment. William J. Burns, chief of the justice department's secret agents, testified he had sent several men into Montana on the Wheeler case the first three or four weeks ago, at the request of the post office department. He had talked with former Attorney General about the case, he said, but replied in the negative to a question as to whether Daugherty had said he wanted to get something on Wheeler.

The other witness was Arthur Lambdin, an official of the telephone company here, who told the committee that George B. Lockwood, secretary of the republican national committee, talked yesterday from Washington to Blair Cohen at Great Falls, Montana, where the indictment against Wheeler was returned on Tuesday. Burns later identified Cohen as an employee of the national committee.

The purpose of introducing Lambdin's testimony was not revealed by Senator Wheeler, but he told his colleagues in the senate in his speech yesterday that he had received word indirectly through the republican national headquarters here, sometime ago, that he was under investigation.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE NAMES HIS OWN CHOICE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

What ever else may be charged in connection with the selection of Harlan F. Stone as the successor of Daugherty as attorney general of the United States, it does not yet appear that President Coolidge named the New York lawyer for political reasons. Mr. Stone is said to have no political connections. He is a former law teacher of Columbia University, and is credited with being an able teacher and a first-class lawyer.

If the President had sought political expediency as regards location it appears he would have named a western man, rather than the man from the City of New York.

It is said that Coolidge made a "personal appointment" when he chose Stone. The new attorney general was a sophomore at Amherst college when the future President entered the freshman class at that institution and Stone graduated ahead of the President.

If Mr. Stone was chosen because of the President's personal knowledge of the man as a student only, such choice may prove a faulty one; but if Mr. Coolidge has kept up with the careers of Stone all through the years and judged him as capable and reliable the chances are the new head of the department of justice may make good and be a credit to the Coolidge administration.

There is no question but that Stone is a much more able lawyer than Harry Daugherty, as it is common knowledge that Mr. Daugherty was never considered a great attorney by any body.

The new official is called "Doctor," and he may have a fine record for learning, but unless he is able to furnish a capable administration of a great office, his past attainments will count for little. It is claimed that Coolidge displeased many politicians in naming Dr. Stone, but the President evidently used his own judgment in the selection. If Stone makes good, Coolidge will get some of the credit; if the new official fails the President will get all the blame.

HIGH INTELLIGENCE NECESSARY TO HIGH VALUES FOR FARMING

Whether the cotton pests and the shortage in farm labor shall prove a blessing in the long run or not, it is certain that in the future farming will be done much more intelligently than in the past.

It is claimed that the order of intelligence necessary to insure good profits in farming is to be very high for the future and that more and more the best business methods must be employed by all farmers who stay in the business.

The old, slip-shod methods are past and gone, and they can never return. Just as orchards can never be raised at a profit again unless every precaution is taken to protect the trees against blight and insects of all kinds, so crops can never be made large or profitable unless the enemies of the crops are destroyed.

Especially will cotton have to be raised with greater care than ever on account of the presence of the boll weevil and the leaf worm.

A new kind of farmer must appear in the South if this section comes to the front as a land of prosperous farmers. The trained, energetic, intelligent and resourceful farmer is the kind and only kind that can survive, stated E. J. Bodman, a prominent banker of Little Rock, Ark., and a man who is closely identified with the farming interests. He says:

"The only cotton farmer who is going to win the fight against the boll weevil is the intelligent, trained farmer, who applies brains and scientific methods to the cultivation of cotton on a farm of reasonable size. Needless to say, this kind of farmer will never endure slavery conditions for himself and his family. What does this all mean? That the days of low-priced cotton are over. If we ever get back to the crops of old-time size, the type of farmer who gets us back will do so only because he makes a fair profit on his year's work."

Those who steadfastly believe that not just to make a living, but developing initiative and ability is the chief end of man's effort, can easily believe that the boll weevil et al, are blessings sent under disguise.

It seems certain that farmers are being forced to know more about how to raise crops and to actually put forth a great deal of intelligent effort to succeed. Necessity must prove the mother of new and valuable inventions in the farming industry. Mr. Bodman also seems to believe that the days of low priced cotton have passed forever, for one reason, because men who are intelligent enough in the future to raise the staple successfully, will also know enough not to glue the market with unreasonably large cotton crops.

SHARE OUR POSSESSIONS AND AT A REASONABLE PRICE

Granted all of the great dreams for the future of the Tennessee Valley come true soon enough for the present business men of the Valley to share in the material prosperity, the cities already established should bear in mind that they may become only a part, and a very small part, of the "Seventy-five-Mile City." There are just as good town sites all along the Valley as are already built upon. Modern conditions render it easy to establish new towns—much more so than 25 or 50 years ago. If the property owners in the towns already established don't watch out, they may see their holdings finally refused and prospective buyers turn to the trackless forests along the Tennessee river and build for themselves towns and manufacturing plants.

It would be best and easiest for the towns already established to be added to. Co-operation is always great gain. It will be cheaper and better in every way if the old centers of population built. But there is no law requiring business to grow larger instead of new towns and cities being men to set up businesses at any particular place. It is said that when Chicago began to grow, when real estate owners began to boost prices out of reason, that enterprising men got busy and "made land" out in the lake waters surrounding the Windy City. Enterprising men are liable to make their own cities at "any old place" along the Valley if the citizens of the established towns and cities get too fond of the pleasant pastime of setting up prices for buildings, for rents and for lands.

It is generally believed that it was the refusal of Colombia people to take a reasonable price for the Panama canal right-of-way that led to the citizens close to the proposed Panama canal to start a revolution and thereby secure the support of the United States in building the Panama canal. If land prices are boosted out of reason land owners in and around the cities of the Valley, they and thousands of others, may live to regret it. There is already some complaint as to land prices.

It is said that more than one big factory has gone elsewhere than in the immediate vicinity of the Twin Cities, because land prices were too high. "Live and let live" is a mighty good rule in human actions, and stated another way the same rule is, those live most happily who are willing to share their possessions with others at a reasonable price.

THE NEWBERRY SUPPORTERS RETIRED

Many of the old-fashioned politicians do not seem to have arrived at the realization that times change in politics as well as in fashions. The voters of today not only are better educated and read more than their fathers and grandfathers, but they have pretty good memories, too.

Take the Newberry case, for instance. As the Andalusia Star aptly puts it:

"Since that memorable day in January, 1922, when the republican old guard vote in the Senate gave Newberry that fatal majority of 13, the people have eliminated from the Senate the following Newberries: Calder, of New York; France, of Maryland; Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey; McCumber, of North Dakota; New, of Indiana; Poindexter, of Washington; Townsend, of Michigan; and now send Sterling, of South Dakota to join them."

And there are several others who soon will join that "old guard majority."—Gadsden Journal.

It becomes effective in April with the departure from Italy of the first contingent of workers. It is understood that this colonization scheme is closely connected with another one to augment steamship services between Italy and Argentina.

Trachoma Spreading in Spain.

MADRID—Doctor Jenaro Gonzalez, the famous Spanish ophthalmic physician, in an open letter to the newspapers, makes an urgent appeal to the government to start a campaign against the disease trachoma, which he says affects thousands of victims in Spain owing to the lack of precautions against it such as are common in other countries.

The doctor says the disease affects most widely the districts of Barcelona, Valencia, Alicante and Almeria, where it is spreading in alarming proportions. Even in Madrid and its surrounding province an increase of cases recently has been reported, and in Valladolid the official returns are alarming.

What the Press Agents Say

Frank Mayo, signed up on a long contract by Goldwyn and one of the featured players in its Charles Brabin production "Six Days" by Elinor Glyn which comes to the Princess theater on Friday and Saturday for days, comes of an acting family well known in this country.

Mayo is the grandson and namesake of that Frank Mayo who appeared on the speaking stage for so many years in a play built around the exploits of Davy Crockett. He made his debut at the age of six with his grandfather in the play.

Among the other stage plays in which he played were "The Woman in the Case," and "The Squaw Man." For three years he appeared in London with Arthur Bourchier and Herbert Sleath, and produced a sketch of his own while in England.

In pictures he was featured in "Power and the Glory," "Interloper," "Tinsel," "A Soul Without Windows," "The Witch Woman," "Driving Power," "The Moral Deadline" and many others.

For three and a half years he was starred by Universal in some of its biggest productions. When his contract with that company expired Goldwyn engaged him for "Souls for Sale" and then cast him in Miss Glyn's "Six Days."

Mayo's wife, Dagmar Godowsky, recently appeared in Goldwyn's first Marshall Neilan production, "The Strangers' Banquet," and in "Red Lights."

NEW NAVAL POLICY

WASHINGTON, April 10—A new naval oil policy, designed to safeguard the government against any such leases as granted by Secretary Denby was announced today by Secretary Wilbur.

In a letter to Senator Hale, of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, Mr. Wilbur declared that "no leases or contracts will be made" by the navy department without the personal approval of the secretary of the navy.

Referring to the Teapot dome litigation now pending, Secretary Wilbur, said he would avoid in every way any act or proceeding which will, in any way, involve the rights of the government in such litigation and will avoid any conduct which will interfere with the contentions advanced by the attorneys for the government.

"No further leases will be made until expressly authorized by congress, unless it appears to my satisfaction that such leases are absolutely essential to prevent the draining of oil from reserves adjacent thereto, and unless it further appears that such leases are fully authorized by act of congress and in that event such leases will be made only after competitive bidding."

Mrs. Jessie De Hagen is spending this week in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Linda Torian of Hopkinsville, Ky., is visiting Miss Vera Smith.

Mrs. C. B. Saunders has returned to her home in Birmingham, after a visit of several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Johnson.

COOLIDGE HEADS
ROAD FILM CAST

In his desire to further the development of better roads in the United States, President Calvin Coolidge consented to take part in the new motion picture, "The Road to Happiness," which will be presented at the Princess next Saturday, April 12.

He appears in one scene which was taken on the lawn of the White House at Washington. It shows him presenting a scholarship certificate to "Bob Preston," the farm boy hero of the story.

Appearing also in this scene are the members of the Highway Educational Board of which Roy D. Chapin, well known good roads advocate, is chairman.

T. H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, also appears in the picture and here are several scenes in the bureau of public roads at the national capital and the bureau's experimental ground at Arlington.

"The Road To Happiness," was produced by the Ford Motion Picture Laboratory in cooperation with government officials at Washington and is a most entertaining and educational picture. The photoplay is excellent, the scenes are exceptionally well selected and no one can help but enjoy the plain Virginia people who portray the principal characters in the story.

REMEMBER THIS

THE STABILITY OF EVERY BUSINESS AND OF EVERY HOME IN EVERY COMMUNITY IS BASED UPON CREDIT, IN ONE FORM OR ANOTHER—

THE BASIS OF ALL CREDIT IS CONFIDENCE—

WITHOUT CONFIDENCE, FAITH, TRUST, BELIEF IN CHARACTER, THERE WOULD BE NO SUCH THING AS CREDIT—

IT IS NOT "WHAT YOU HAVE," BUT "HOW YOU KEEP YOUR WORD" THAT DETERMINES THE DESIRABILITY AND AMOUNT OF YOUR CREDIT—

LET'S KEEP OUR CREDIT GOOD; LET'S KEEP THAT CONFIDENCE; LET'S PAY UP, TODAY, SOME OF THE LITTLE, HALF-FORGOTTEN BILLS THAT HAVE A TENDENCY TO UNDERMINE OUR CREDIT, CONFIDENCE AND CHARACTER THROUGH OUR THOUGHTLESSNESS OR NEGLECT—

Let's Keep That "Good Pay" Reputation for all the Albany-Decatur Community
